PRODUCE GUIDE

IPPOLITO

FRUIT & PRODUCE LTD.

PROUD HISTORY

In the 1930's, an enterprising young couple, Carmelo and Filomena Ippolito, launched their business, Ippolito Fruit & Produce, a wholesaler of fresh fruit and vegetables in Hamilton, Ontario. In time, their son joined the organization, and today, no less than four generations of the Ippolito family have helped the growth of our company.

FOOD SAFETY AND QUALITY

Ippolito Fruit & Produce prides itself in its robust and dynamic Food Safety System. The warehousing, distribution and production facilities are certified by Safe Quality Foods (SQF) 2000 Level 2 standards. Ippolito is committed to continued growth of their microbiological testing programs and on farm safety systems.

SWEET BABY BROCCOLI

Great for grilling, stir fries or quick side dish, sweet baby broccoli is distinguished by its sweet taste and tender stems.

Quality Check

Avoid any broccoli with dried out or browning stems and yellowing florets. Good quality broccoli will have light green stalks and compact, dark green florets.

SWISS CHARD

RED

Differentiated by its candy apple red stems, red swiss chards are high in vitamins A, K and C. Add flavor by sautéing in olive oil and spices or just simply add it with other greens to create a personal spring mix.

GREEN

Delicate tasting swiss chards with their stalk-like green stems and broad crisp leaves make for a great addition to egg dishes or soups.

Quality Check

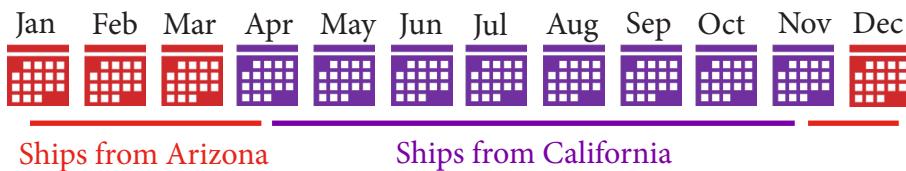

Look for thick red stems, large and dark green leaves with prominent red veins. Avoid discoloured leaves.

TURNIPS

Although small by size, turnips pack a big punch when it comes to sharp flavors. Turnips can be roasted easily with other vegetables and offered as a side dish along roasted meats.

Quality Check

Good quality turnips should have uniform shapes, firm texture and be free of blemishes. Avoid turnips that appear soft, shriveled or moldy.
